About Phh Care

Providence Helping Hands is a CQC-registered care provider dedicated to delivering compassionate, high-quality support for individuals of all ages. Our skilled team offers personalised care services—from live-in and visiting care to specialised dementia and complex care—empowering clients to live comfortably and independently in their own homes.

With a commitment to dignity, independence, and well-being, we work closely with families to ensure each person receives the respectful, tailored care they deserve.

Our Services:

At Providence Helping Hands, we understand that each individual's needs are unique, which is why we provide a comprehensive range of services tailored to offer the best possible care and support. Our compassionate, highly trained team is dedicated to helping clients maintain independence, dignity, and quality of life in the comfort of their own homes. Below are the key services we offer:

Live-in Care

Around-the-clock support from a dedicated carer living with you, providing continuous assistance with daily tasks, complex care needs, and companionship.

Visiting Care

Scheduled visits for help with personal care, medication, meal preparation, and household tasks, allowing clients to live independently while receiving essential support.

Overnight Care

Night-time assistance, available as either a "sleeping night" (on-call support) or "waking night" (awake care throughout), for clients needing safety and peace of mind overnight.

Complex Care

Specialised care for clients with advanced medical needs, including those with disabilities or complex health conditions, delivered in collaboration with healthcare professionals.

Dementia Care

Personalised care for individuals with dementia, enhancing safety, engagement, and comfort in familiar surroundings with support for memory and daily activities.

Emergency & Respite Care

Temporary care to support during emergencies or provide relief for regular caregivers, offering reliable short-term assistance with personal care and daily tasks.

Working In Partnership:

At Providence Helping Hands, we believe exceptional care is built on strong partnerships. We work closely with the individual receiving support, their family, healthcare professionals, community organisations, and local authorities to ensure our care is truly personalised and comprehensive.

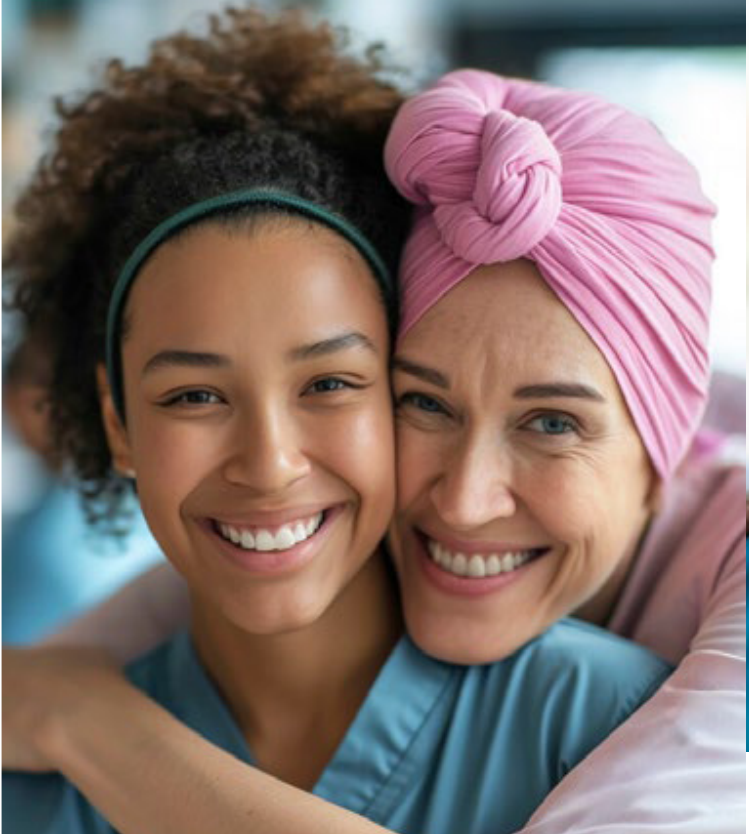

Individuals: We value each person's voice, actively involving them in decisions about their care to honour their preferences and enhance their independence.

Families: Open communication with families keeps them informed and involved, aligning our care with their insights and expectations.

Healthcare Professionals: Collaboration with GPs, nurses, and specialists brings professional expertise into our care plans, enhancing overall health outcomes.

Community Organisations: By partnering with community services, we connect clients with additional resources to support their engagement and well-being.

Local Authorities: Collaborating with local authorities ensures our services align with regulatory standards, providing quality care that meets community needs

With a commitment to dignity, independence, and well-being, we work closely with families to ensure each person receives the respectful, tailored care they deserve.
